

Secrets of the Movies Revealed

Q—What two famous stars recently obtained almost simultaneous divorces in Rhode Island?

A—Pearl White is unattached again. She recently obtained a divorce in Rhode Island from her husband, Capt. Wallace McCutcheon. She married McCutcheon after his return from France after the armistice and he has appeared with her in several pictures. About the same time Crane Wilbur obtained a divorce from his wife, Florence Wilbur; his divorce also being granted in Rhode Island. Perhaps movie folk have discovered a new Reno in the east. The Wilburs have been separated for about a year and a half but the granting of the divorce was a big surprise to Mrs. Wilbur who is living in San Francisco. As Florence Dunbar she is well known in motion pictures.

Q—What is Leatrice Joy's real name and is she married?

A—So far as we have been able to discover that is her real name, although we believe she changed her first name from Beatrice to Leatrice. Miss Joy is not married—yet. She is engaged to handsome Jack Gilbert.

AUDITORIUM

Wandering into a strange and unlawful town west of the Rio Grande, and opening a saloon and gambling hall in opposition to one already established proved to be very dangerous to Harry Carey in his Universal special feature, "The Freeze Out," which is shown today at the Auditorium. "The Freeze Out" is a picture that has an abundance of thrills and laughs, not counting a pretty live love affair with the school marm of Broken Buckle, the center of action. Appearing opposite the star is Helen Ferguson and Charles Le Moyne. A new chapter of "The Sky Ranger" and Ham and Bud in a very funny comedy are other pictures on the same program.

OLIVER

Wallace Beery is one of the most important members of the all-star company which the Metro Pictures Corporation engaged for "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Mr. Beery enacts the role of Lieut. Col.

Q—How old are Bill Farnum and Louise Levelly?

A—Bill was 45 years old on the Fourth of July last, while Louise is just 20 years younger.

Q—Where does Tom Moore live?

A—Here's Tom's latest address: 1919 Van Ness av., Los Angeles, Calif.

Q—Who is "Fatty" Arbuckle's latest heavyweight rival in the movies?

A—The latest fatty in the movies is Leon Weekes who weighs about 240 pounds and stands six feet, two inches in his holoproof.

onal von Richthoven, the villainous German commander, in Rex Ingram's picturization of Vicente Illanes's widely read novel, which is to begin an engagement at the Oliver theater Saturday night, Sept. 3. The part of von Richthoven is similar to the parts Mr. Beery has played in support of Douglas Fairbanks in "The Mollycoddle," with Priscilla Dean in "The Virgin of Stamboul," and with Hobart Bosworth in "Behind the Door," and many other successful screen productions. It is his impersonation of these "heavy" roles that has made Mr. Beery one of the best known men on the silver sheet. "The Four Horsemen" has a cast that is without a doubt one of the largest and most distinguished ever assembled for any production, and includes Rudolph Valentino, Alice Terry, John Salsola, Stuart Holmes, Pomery Cannan, Joseph Wickard, Edward Connolly, Mabel Van Buren, Nigel de Brulier, Broadwitch Turner, and many others who are well known to the motion picture fans of this city.

ORPHEUM

An air of activity is apparent in the vicinity of the Orpheum theater since the opening of that theater's box office for advance reservations. Almost a continuous line of patrons has been at the window securing seats for the opening bill next Sunday and the subsequent performances, or making selections for permanent reservations for each change of bill.

Starting next Sunday matinee the following program will be presented: "Melo Dance," a spectacular singing and dancing novelty produced on a lavish scale by Morris L. Greenwald; a comedy oddity presented by Jo Jo Harrison; "Windows," a pleasing sketch offered by Helen Coline and company; two Southern comedies, Browning and Davis in vaudeville nonsense; Reo and Helmar, physical masterpieces and the Three Lees, comedy jugglers. In addition to the vaudeville numbers a Pathe news reel of timely subjects and the Topic of the Day, composed of humorous press clippings, will be shown.

Scene from "Moral Fibre," featuring Corinne Griffith, which opens a two-day engagement today at the Blackstone Theatre.

A film novelty, a modernized version of Esop's Fables, will be added to the Pathe reel for the last half of the week, starting Thursday, when an entirely new vaudeville program will be shown.

BLACKSTONE

A photodrama of wide contrast ranging from childhood of a young girl in the village to the society atmosphere of a large city. The stellar role furnishes Corinne Griffith material to display her versatility and permits her to wear many elaborate gowns. The star makes a departure in this production by appearing as a 14-year-old girl in the first half of the story. She is exceptionally clever in child parts and wins many friends. An exceptionally strong cast was assembled to support Miss Griffith in this production. Such names as Catherine Calvert, William Parks, Jr., and many other well known film stars are to be found in this cast. Beautiful sets and exquisite seating background give the picture an atmosphere, and the story is one of unusual twists, which is seldom equalled in screen productions. The story tells of a young girl to set out to avenge her brother for a wrong done him, but learns that revenge is not hers to take. She
